.406 batting average—a record for 80 yrs

80 years ago this week, baseball player Ted Williams (1918-2002) of the Boston Red Sox finished the season with a .406 batting average. No major league player since

Williams has ever achieved an average higher than .400—which translates to getting a hit 4 times during every 10 trips to the plate.

Though he had offers from the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees while he was still in high school, his mother thought he was too young to leave home, so he signed up with the local minor league club in San Diego, and—despite respiratory problems that would plague him for the rest of his life—soon became a triple-threat, dominating in batting average, home runs, and runs batted in. He signed with the Red Sox—and stayed with the team during his entire career.

Throughout the years, Williams stated his goal was to have people point to him and remark, "There goes Ted Williams, the greatest hitter who ever lived." (1941)

An anonymous diner decided to treat everyone to lunch at a restaurant in Pennsylvania—60 total strangers.

The newly-reopened Country Diner in Hegins, Penn., was packed during a lunch rush when a diner asked manager Lorrie Renninger if she could pay for everyone's bill.

"I waited on this lady. When it was time for her to pay her bill, she came up to the register and said she would pay for everyone's bill. I said: 'Are you sure?' and she was like, 'Yes' " Renninger recalled.

Farm plows uncover ancient Americans

By Sherry Attaway

Thirteen thousand years ago, most of Michigan was covered in a wall of ice up to a mile high. Archaeologists believed this kept some of the continent's earliest people, a group called Clovis after their distinctive spear points, from settling in the region.

But an independent researcher along with University of Michigan researchers have identified a 13,000-year-old Clovis camp site, now thought to be the earliest archaeological site in America. The site predates previously identified human settlements in the Michigan basin and potentially rewrites the history of the peopling—or settling—of the Great Lakes region.

The site was likely occupied by a small group of people, about six or seven, who briefly lived on a river in southwest Michigan toward the end of the Pleistocene. The finding also suggests this is the northwestern-most Clovis settlement in the Great Lakes region. The researchers describe their findings in a paper published in the journal PaleoAmerica.

The Clovis people were a Paleoindian culture who lived in the Americas. The culture quickly spread through North and South America. Most Native Americans today can trace their ancestry to these early inhabitants, according to Brendan Nash, a doctoral student and an author of the paper.

In the paleo-archaeology world, Clovis technology can be easily identified by two characteristics of their tools: that they primarily used a high quality stone called chert and that they used a distinct method of making these tools.

Previously, there was little evidence that Clovis settled in Michigan. The region was nearly uninhabitable at this time: Much of the state, except a triangular swath over southwest Michigan that extended toward the tip of the mitt, was covered by glaciers.

"As the glaciers were retreating, they created a predictable ice-front environment that was frequented by early humans favorite prey," Nash said. "Early humans had a wolf model of subsistence: They traveled around in large groups and didn't stay in any place too long. They were an apex predator and probably doing both hunting and scavenging, perhaps by running other ice age predators such as saber-toothed tigers and shortfaced bears off their prey. What we have at the Belson site appears to be a short-term camp by a group that would likely split off from the main group seasonally."

Crop report

By Richard Foell
RFoell@wilburellis.com

Weather: No rain and continued hot. We'll have a brief cool down into the 80's then back to the low 100's. UGGH!

Permanent Crops & post-harvest fertility: It has been a really good year for the majority of our crops in that yields and quality were better than previous years. This also means that with more yield, more nutrients were removed from fields with the crop. This also means that in order to keep crops healthy & producing well next year, we must, at a minimum, replace those nutrients that were taken away. Here are some nutrient removal numbers by crop to help in calculating what should be replaced:

There are two approaches to replacing these removed nutrients: feeding the soil There are that liquid fertilizers will be 'eaten' by the crop much faster than dry fertilizers that need to be dissolved before the crop can use them. Types & amounts of each fertilizer should also be considered with information from tissue & soil analysis. Our PCA CCA certified representatives will be happy to consult with you on the best fertility program to help your crop remain healthy & productive. Our contact information is listed at the bottom of this article. Please let us know if you'd like one of them to visit or call you.

Alfalfa: We thought we were through with fighting worms, but our scouts are reporting rising numbers in Alfalfa Caterpillars.

Almonds: Harvest continues. Some post-harvest fertilizers are going on. With soils being as dry as they are, it is harder to get the irrigation water to penetrate the soil to get to the roots. To aid in better water penetration we have a product called AquateMax. This product is a combination of 4 different adjuvants to help water penetrate and stay in the root zone. AquateMax can be mixed with most fertilizers and has an initial use rate of 32 ounces per acre. For more information on this product, feel free to contact your PCA or our office. Our contact information is at the bottom.

Grapes: Every year has its challenges. This year it is labor to harvest the grapes. We have heard of harvest crews not showing up or just part of the crew showing up. This is frustrating the wineries as they are not getting grapes in when they are at the ideal sugar levels and the growers will receive lower prices for their crop.

Helping those in need

Recently more than 1,000 families and childcare providers received diapers, sanitizer, children's dental kits, and other family essentials at the San Joaquin County Public Health Services WIC Program Emergency Supplies Drive-Through Events.

Public Health Officer Dr. Maggie Park, State Senator Dr. Susan Talamantes Eggman, and several other local leaders convened to help bring awareness to this community outreach and handout supplies.

The event was made possible through the expanded Public Health Services. Similar events are planned for next year.

A happy day

By Gene Paleno
Linden Herald correspondent

I'm tired. Happy, as always, but tired. Why am I tired? I'll tell you why am I tired. It is for two reasons. One; Cleo is giving me problems. I thought I had her tamed. As I am, often, about Cleo, I was wrong.

Cleo keeps on going her own way whenever she wants.

For the last three weeks, Cleo has, obediently, come in each night. After a squeaky hello, a brief petting session (which she has come to expect), and a few bites of her Kitty bits, she goes to sleep in her apple box that sits on my files. Sometimes, as a change of pace, she may decide to jump to my computer table and lay her head on my left arm while I try to type with my right. Often as not, when I wake early to write, I find her asleep in my easy chair. That is the chair where I sit to watch the News, or Judge Judy, to relax.

Last night Cleo decided she wanted to go outside. I let her out, intending to call her in before too late. I called her at eight, then at nine, bawling out her name loud enough to wake the dead and the neighbors a half mile away. No Cleo came at my call.

I went to bed, expecting to see her fat furry face in the morning at the sliding-glass-door of my office-bedroom. Still, no Cleo appeared. I was worried. Maybe a coyote or a raccoon had her for dinner.

Making up my mind to give it a good search for my cat, I went down to the garage and the barn, but found no sign of a dead cat or any remains. My search over, with neither hide nor hair of my cat, I braced myself to a life without Cleo.

Then, surprise, surprise. Halfway on my way up the hill, back to the house, there was Cleo waiting for me with a guilty smirk on her furry face. Despite her guilty smirk, it was plain she wasn't a bit sorry for making me worry.

She followed me home. When she finished her breakfast, she let me know she was ready to go out again. I was a little put out with her but I let her out. First, I gave her a shot of anti-flea medicine, which I had held off a week because she doesn't like it. At least she knew where I stood on unruly cats.

The second reason I'm tired, besides chasing after Cleo, is because of my new book, The Porter Conspiracy. After all the hoopla to promote the book, what with ads in the Record Bee and the Journal, lots more book signings, and letters to folks that had read my first book, Lake County History, I was sure I would be up to my neck in letters and orders.

Nothing much happened for a week. I have no reason to complain. More than a dozen magazine, publications and Richmond CBS told me they were interested in my book. They wanted a copy for a possible review, interview or some sort of write-up to help let people know about The Porter Conspiracy. But that sort of publicity takes time and, like I said, my Post Office, in Upper Lake, was empty.

This afternoon, when I went to the Upper Lake Post office, my box was chock full of orders. Like things most always do, it all worked out okay. Cleo's home again and I have plenty to be thankful for. After all, isn't it the journey and not the prize that makes life most interesting?

A biographer once wrote of Christopher Columbus that "He discovered no island or sea as lonely as himself."

How different for those who trust God!

David wrote, "When You, God, went out before Your people, when You marched through the wilderness ... You provided for the poor!"

The writer of Hebrews echoed those words when he wrote, "I will never leave you nor ever forsake you.."

King Nebuchadnezzar refused to hear the testimony of three young men. He bound them and threw them into a fiery furnace. In amazement, when he looked into the furnace he did not see three men, but four: unharmed and unbound. He shouted, "Servants of the Most High God, come out! Come here!" God went before them, protected them and rescued them.

On one occasion the disciples of Jesus were frightened by the winds and the waves that were threatening them. They were in a little boat with little hope. Then Jesus appeared and said, "Take courage. Don't be afraid. It is I!" He went to them, calmed their fears and then said, "You of little faith. Why did you doubt?"

A Psalmist was traveling through a deep valley with dark shadows. He was filled with great fear as he faced the "unknown." Yet, he was able to say, "I will fear no evil, for You are with me. Your rod and Your staff will comfort me!" He trusted God because He never abandoned Him.

The Lord always goes before us to protect us. He will provide for everything we need now and through eternity.

One night before climbing into bed, Brad knelt with his mother to pray. "Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray Thee Lord, my soul to keep; if I should die before I wake..." There was a long pause and suddenly he stopped praying. "Go on," said his mother to encourage him.

"I can't," he cried and ran from the room.

A few moments later he returned and finished the prayer, "I pray Thee Lord my soul to take."

"What happened?" his Mother asked.

"Well," he confessed, "just before we knelt to pray, I went into James' room and took all of his toy soldiers and hid them. Then I hid his tanks, cannons and trucks so he couldn't see them. And after I started to pray I had to stop and make everything right because I knew that God wouldn't hear me."

Many times we pray and get no answers. Often we think that God is not willing to hear us or unable to help us. But that is not true.

We cannot knowingly have sin in our hearts and lives and go to God and expect Him to answer our prayers. If we expect God to hear and answer our prayers we must make things right first.

Said the Psalmist, "if I had cherished sin in my heart, the Lord would not have listened." It is only when we willingly confess and forsake our sins that we can expect God to answer our prayers. It may be time to stop in the middle of a prayer, right some wrongs and then pray.

Anderson on sports

By Craig Anderson ... and a few other things.

As is usually the case, when I run across something of interest or a ludicrous remark that's interesting, it's ancillary to what I'm actually looking for, which may explain this somewhat philosophical approach to visual acuity: "When I see things through my eyes, I see things," said famous boxing trainer Angelo Dundee. There is no argument that applies to this, except to note that while searching the lists of sports trading cards I stumbled across one Sherwood Robert "Sherry" Magee.

Magee (1884-1929) was a premier left fielder in the "Dead Ball ERA"-1905-1914; he hit over .300 five times, with a batting title and was a .291 career hitter who played for six teams.

Sherry delivered many great hits during his career but none more famous than the right cross he delivered to the chin of umpire Bill Finneran that sent the arbiter into unconsciousness. Magee was suspended for the remainder of the season but on appeal the ban was shortened to 36 days.

And his baseball card is valued at $680,204, a princely amount that seems commensurate with his claim to fame.

Which got me to thinking: What interesting baseball cards might be lurking about in the mysterious realm of sports "trading" cards. I'd never heard of Sherwood Robert "Sherry" Magee but since he clocked an umpire and has a hefty price tag on his baseball card, I doubt I'll forget him.

You'd think the pricing of baseball cards would be somewhat capricious; they're old and scarce and they've been evaluated by Professional Sports Authenticator or Beckett Grading Services or Sports and Guaranty~ three of the most respected card appraisers operating today.

Here are some of the top cards extant, beginning with THE most famous, rare and expensive of them all: 1. Honus Wagner, 1909-1911, $6,600. Only 23 cards were made so they do not turn up often; 2. Mickey Mantle 1952, Tbps;~~-$5.2 million; 3. Lebron James, Upper Deck Exquisite Collection, $5.2 million-and it's rumored that King James controls every aspect of the card's creation including any extras-uniform swatch, autograph, personalized messages—all of such customizing elevating the purchase price; 4. Luka Doncic, Panini National Treasures, 2018, $4.6 million; 5. Mike Trout, Bowman Chrome Draft Prospects, 2009, $3.9 million; 6. Tom Brady, Playoff Contenders Championship Rookie, 2000, $2.6 million; 7. Giannis Antetokounmpo, Panini National Treasures, $1.9 million; 8. Kobe Bryant, Topps Chrome Refractions Rookie Card, 1996-1997, $1.8 million; 9. Michael Jordan, Upper Deck Game Jersey, 1997, $1.4 million and 10. Wayne Gretzky, O-Pee-Chee, 1979, $1.3 million.

That is the wild Top 10 of a group of appraisers and the value is what keeps card collectors buying the things, that and the fact that it's an enjoyable hobby.

My oldest son Christopher was an avid collector and he acquired a Hank Aaron rookie in excellent condition that was valued at a hefty amount that surprised both of us. It is now with him in Singapore where he works.

In the realm of card collecting you never know what you might unearth from a stack of used, or even new, cards.

Chris collects sports cards, professional musician son Arlyn collects guitars and me? I collected "Astounding Science Fiction" magazines, building a complete collection of the years from 1937 to the present [which was 1979, when I stopped collecting them].

I had read each issue, maintained them in perfect condition and sold the collection to a dealer who made me an offer I couldn't refuse. And he would have the issues available for other science fiction aficionados to enjoy as I had. Perhaps the primary reason for selling the collection was that I didn't want to be saddled with the decreasing value of gradually deteriorating pulp magazines. Still, it was fun!

Glenn Mollette ...

Is God mad at you?

Dr. Glenn Mollette

We all may have some issues with the past. Past problems, past mistakes, past sins, past decisions and past ignorance. We live and we learn if we are fortunate enough to live. Sadly, too many obituaries are of young adults who were barely starting life. Some young adults don't think that much about the past because so much of life is in front of them - they hope. Most of us believe life is in front of us. It's difficult to imagine not existing, but as we all know, life ends.

If you live long enough you'll make enough mistakes that will embarrass you, worry you, frighten you or simply make you wonder if God is mad enough to assign you to an everlasting hell. Usually, the pain or aggravation of life's past problems, valleys, hurts and pain is enough hell for all of us. If hell is any worse than the weight of life's regrets, sorrows and foul-ups then it surely is more than a terrible place.

People who live long lives typically remember fifty years ago like it's today. Throughout all of life, sadly, what we often are weighted down by are our transgressions or mistakes. Often it may not be some egregious sin but simply something we wish we could do one more time because we know if we could try again we could do it better. Unfortunately we don't get a second chance. We have one opportunity to raise our children. We have one span of time to be good to our parents. We have one brief work career that we both work hard and do well or fiddle diddle away. Hind sight is always 20/20 but at the time we can't stop long enough to see what we are doing.

Most of the time our lives are filled with good deeds, lots of good events and lots of good memorable occasions that we should dwell more upon. We forget most of these but the bad stuff always rises to the top. Bad stuff is like bad news. Bad news travels fast. Good news may or may not get around. The bad stuff is typically what climbs its way to the top of our minds and camps there to torment us.

The work of the Devil is surely to imprison us if possible. The work of Jesus is to set us free. I heard a parable about Jesus seeing the Devil with a cage. Inside the cage the Devil had a man. Jesus said, "Old Devil, what are you

Another Lions victory

Varsity Lions win again, beat Vacaville Christian 46-30

By Craig W. Anderson

Change is the watchword in these COVID-mangled times but from the chaos rises coherence for the Lions as they arranged a last-minute replacement game with Vacaville Christian and the Falcons came to Lion Stadium only to be engaged in a score fest eventually won by the varsity Lions 46.30.

"We knew this could be a tough game because Vacaville Christian came here with a 4-0 record. "I said Linden head coach Chris Herrera. "It was a schedule shift that wasn't decided until Wednesday night." The game was scheduled to be the last game of the regular season for both teams and was moved to the spot vacated by Rio Vista due to various problems.

Herrera said a few key players were lost due to injuries and other reasons and "our starting middle linebacker was lost to injury five plays into the game so we had to shift people around and adjust."

This win brought Linden's Sierra Delta League record to 3-0 with two of the wins by forfeit—Golden Sierra and Rio Vista—which puts Linden in a "good spot to run the table. Our kids are more resilient, patient and understanding of where we are and what we need to do the rest of the way," said Herrera.

Vacaville Christian took an 8-7 lead into the second quarter and the Lions put 17 second quarter points on the scoreboard while an often dominant defense continually stuffed the Falcons running game and held the visitors to eight second quarter points. Linden had a 24-16 halftime lead.

The adjustments Herrera said they'd made throughout the year continued in the second half when, in the third quarter, the Lions put up six points to lead 3b-16 to seemingly lock up the game.

The Falcons had other ideas and parlayed an interception runback and another touchdown into a 30-30 tie by the end of third stanza.

"Our defense really put a lot of pressure on them," Herrera said. "in the game we had three picks and recovered a couple of fumbles. More importantly, Vacaville Christian likes to run and we stopped them." He said when Linden was up 30-16 and "they tied it in the third quarter we were down but in the fourth quarter we marched over them to a score. We're very balanced. We lift in the morning and condition every day after practice. And we wore them down. ))

The crucial play and moment came with four minutes left in the contest and Linden at their own 30 facing a third and nine. Quarterback Alex Herrera threw a long pass to Jordan Sherman who grabbed it and raced into the end zone to complete the 70 yard scoring play that clinched it for the Lions, 46-30.

"It wasn't our cleanest game but we played with a lot of heart," Coach Herrera said. "We've been building toughness throughout the year and our conditioning is excellent. Every team we've played has cramped up but we haven't, not once.

Here are the stats:

Passing: Alex Herrera completed 8 of 22 for 258 yards, three touchdowns, a longest of 70 yards and a quarterback rating of 101.9.

Rushing: Joe Cowan lugged the pigskin 23 times for 101 yards, a 4.4 average, a long run of 24 yards and two touchdowns.

Herrera had 11 carries for 71 yards with a 6.5 average.

Receiving: Jordan Sherman caught six passes for 203 yards, a 33.8 yard average, a longest of 70 yards and two touchdowns. Michael Cook caught two for 55 yards, a longest of 53 yards and a touchdown.

Tackles: Myles Flint-1 2, Dominic Dias and Carlos Figuerora-each with 10, Alejandro Perez-9, Jeremiah Brintley-6. Lions contributing to the team's 78 tackles were Lucas Davis, Jacob Lantiese, Christian Friis, Cole Nixon, Tony Cowan, Andrew Kafton, Anthony Ortega and Jack McCann. Cowan, Cook and Friis each intercepted a pass; Perez and Lantiese each recovered a fumble.

JV Lions win, 28-0

By Craig W. Anderson

Linden's JV Lions football team battled Rio Vista at Lions Stadium and, after a lackluster first quarter offensively, roared back to hammer the Rams 28-0.

"Our defense held them on the Ram's long drive in the first quarter and that set the defensive standard for the game for us," said JV Lions head coach Eric Weber, who was on his way to a place in the area of the wildfires to check on it. He called from his drive into the Sierra foothills to give the information for this story. "Our defense was lights out throughout the game, and shut down Rio Vista's rushing attack."

When the second quarter rolled around Linden quarterback Dax Weber decided to take matters into his own hands-or feet- as he rambled 92 yards on a quarterback keeper into the end zone for a 6-0 Lions lead which soon became a 7-0 advantage with Sebastian Trujillo's successful point after.

Linden continued its second quarter scoring onslaught when Weber found Braden Busalacchi for a 32 yard touchdown strike and with Trujillo's second PAT, the Lions were up 14-0 a lead that held up until halftime.

In the third quarter the Lions turned frustration-a 25 touchdown run by Weber was called back due to a penalty-into good vibes when, two plays later, Weber ran 42 yards for a score. With Trujillo's PAT split the uprights, Linden was up 21 -0 and the Lions defense didn't let up and the Rams (See back page—JV football)

More about ... Crop report

Row & vegetable crops: Whiteflies are more prevalent in melon crops. Fall veggies (cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, etc.) are in the ground and growing nicely. Tomatoes: Ethephon continues to be applied to fields that are not maturing fast enough.

Walnuts: By the time many of you will be reading this, harvest will have started on the earlier varieties. One of our PCAs reported seeing walnuts being harvested earlier this week. The ranch I used to work for out of Hamilton City will begin harvest in earnest on Monday. Ethephon is continuing to be applied to later varieties to help them reach maturity. The hot weather is not helping the hulls release from the shell, but these cool nights are helping to move things along. A couple of night with high amounts of dew will really kick things in gear.

Operations: As the season comes to an end and your fields are harvested, we will be picking up our tanks and equipment. We are evaluating all of our field storage (rolling & stationary) for continued use or replacement / repair. We appreciate your understanding & cooperation while we go through this tedious process. Should you have any leftover chemicals that you would like to return, please contact your PCA or our office so we can get them scheduled for pickup. All products being returned should be sealed and in resaleable condition. if you are unsure, please have your PCA inspect prior to returning. At Wilbur-Ellis, we can provide materials for all your crop protection and production needs. We look forward to the opportunity to show you why we're worth doing business with. ## Ancient Americans

Thomas Talbot, a self-taught researcher, found the first Clovis spear point in 2008 in the fields of a farm in early spring. He often walks the fields at this time of year, after the fields have been plowed, searching for Native American spear points.

He said there was no mistaking the point's origin: It was made of a kind of chert preferred by Clovis in this region, and made using the same technological method so distinct to the Clovis people. The stone, called Attica chert, is found in one region in western Indiana and eastern Illinois, 120 miles away from the Belson site.

"Paleolithic pieces-not quite this old, but pieces that are similar-have turned up around Michigan, but usually they are pretty scattered, like maybe someone lost it while they were hunting or walking through," Talbot said. "So although I thought it was really cool, I thought it was a once-in-a-lifetime finding. But other pieces started turning up, and by the end of the spring, it was pretty clear that I had Clovis components at this site."

Clovis tools such as projectile points and hide scrapers have a very characteristic central channel through the length of the tool, called a flute. A Clovis person would have chipped stone outward from this central channel to create a place to attach the projectile point to its spear shaft. Also distinctive to the Clovis people is that they struck large flakes of material off the stone to create their points. The large, detached pieces had razor-sharp edges and would be used as expedient knives themselves.

Talbot found about nine pieces from the Clovis including two pieces of the same spearpoint he found years apart. In 2019, Talbot met Henry Wright, an anthropologist and archaeologist, to show him the collection. Wright confirmed Talbot's suspicions. The following summer, in 2020, researchers led by Nash began the dig at Talbot's site, now called the Belson Site after the family of farmers who own the land.

The Belson site is similar in size to other Paleoindian camping sites. About 1.5 meters beneath the ground's surface, the researchers found an intact horizon indicating the campsite. They also found more tools as well as flakes of material that indicate the camp's inhabitants were making tools on site.

"Last year, with Brendan's expertise and Henry's guidance, we opened up the site and found two distinct artifacts well below the plow zone, which means they're undisturbed. They've laid there for 13,000 years," Talbot said. "That tells us we have at least a partially undisturbed Clovis component in Michigan, and that's huge. That's very big news that changes archaeology for the state of Michigan."

To date, the researchers have found more than 20 tools and hundreds of pieces of manufacturing and refurbishment debris.

Nash says there is a caveat to their findings. The Belson projectile points are similar to another set of early projectile points called Gainey, which also have a flute running up the center of the spearpoint. But the Belson projectile points exhibit the large flaking characteristic of Clovis technology, whereas Gainey points are shaped by many strikes that take off smaller flakes of material.

"The peopling process of the Great Lakes was always thought to have been later, and that the Great Lakes was really just the northernmost region of a bunch of other group's ranges," Nash said. "Michigan culture history has always been thought to be piecemeal of other place's culture histories that happen to be coming into and out of Michigan periodically."

"Now what we're seeing is that we've got a presence that is as early as other sites in North America, and it has the same technology. Now we can not only move Great Lakes culture history back a little bit, but we can also say, 'Maybe it has its own story that's not just the butt end of the story of every other region. There might be something really

A laboratory in Colorado will conduct a protein residue analysis that may be able to identify which animals or plants the spear points may have been used on, which could tell the researchers what prey the people were hunting, Nash says.

The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address or other common designation, if any, shown above. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (866) 266-7512 or visit this Internet Web site www.elitepostandpub.com, using the file number assigned to this case 20-61523. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, -you can call (866) 266-7512, or visit this internet website www.elitepostandpub.com, using the file number assigned to this case 20-61523 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.

Volleyball undefeated in League, 4-0

Linden's Lady Lions varsity volleyball squad is undefeated in Sierra Delta League play with a 4-0 record and their 1.000 percentage is tied with Vacaville Christian. However, Linden's overall 7-8 record - 0.467 percentage—is the tiebreaker because Vacaville Christian's overall record of 5-4 results in a 0.556 percentage, just enough to ease past the Lady Lions for first place in league play based on overall record.

Rio Vista is in third with a league record of 3-1 for a percentage of .800; their overall mark is 7-4.

Linden's Lady Lion retained their unblemished league record with a 3-0 shellacking of the Golden Sierra Grizzlies on Linden's home hardwood.

Next up for the Lions is Rio Vista in Linden, a team Linden defeated 3-1 early in the Sierra Delta League season. Following Rio Vista is San Juan likewise on the Lions home court. The Varsity Tournament is scheduled after the San Juan game and following that interruption in the 2021 schedule Esparto comes to visit the Lions. The league season then has the Lady Lions at Vacaville Christian, back home vs. Highland and then on the road to face Golden Sierra in the Sierra Foothills.

A lot of exciting volleyball remains to be played in this pandemic-challenged season.

The major threat in this one from Linden's side of the ball was freshman quarterback Weber. He completed 7 of 17 passes for 137 yards-a 19.6 yard per pass average-a touchdown and he tossed an interception. His longest connection of the afternoon was to Trujillo for 57 yards. Trujillo also caught Linden's lone TD.

Weber also led the Lions in rushing with 109 yards on 13 carries., averaging 8.4 yards per carry with a long run of 23 yards.

Also lugging the pigskin for Linden were Carson Ruegsegger, Luke Coussons, Devin Maciel, James Fears and Jay Reames. Total rushing yards from this phalanx of ball carriers was 116 on 20 team carries.

On the receiving end of Weber's passes, Trujillo stood out with four catches for 113 yards for a 28.3 yard average per reception with a touchdown. Braden Busalacchi grabbed two for 48 yards, with a longest of 35 yards for an average per catch of 24 yards; Matt Schallberger clutched two for 11 yards with a longest of nine yards.

Linden fumbled twice, losing one.

Each team had big plays that resulted in touchdowns but overall it was a defensive struggle and a prime example of solid, somewhat old fashioned, small town football. In short, it was the real "America's Game" played as it should be, at the local level.

scoring-or lack of it-became a comforting issue for the JV Lions.

With only 2:50 left to play in the fourth quarter Jay Reams took a punt on a 65 yard journey to the house and with the point after touchdown Linden had achieved the 28-0 score which proved to be the final number.

Long trip—JV come up short

By Craig W. Anderson

Was it a scrimmage or a "real" game? Whatever it was, the junior varsity Lions lost 20-6 to East Nicolaus.

How far will Linden's JV Lions travel to play a football game? How about to East Nicolaus in Sutter County above Roseville, east of Lincoln., near Pleasant Grove, North of Sacramento in Yuba City's Metro Area.

Each team had big plays that resulted in touchdowns but overall it was a defensive struggle and a prime example of solid, somewhat old fashioned, small town football. In short, it was the real "America's Game" played as it should be, at the local level.

Linden's JV Lions hit the road to face the East Nicolaus Spartans in the midst of this confusion bedecked high school football season.

With a population of 2,000, East Nicolaus resembles Linden and their JV Spartans seemed to be nearly an exact duplicate of the visiting Lions despite a high school enrollment of only 301 students.

This game was the result of energetic searching and getting the word out that Linden needed and wanted a game. "Come on up," was the response from the Spartans to Linden Athletic Director Robert Posehn and head JV coach Eric Weber said, "Let's go!" and the game was on.

Two more evenly matched teams would be hard to find: in total yards, the Spartans accumulated 306, the Lions racked up 288; rushing yardages was East Nicolaus 128, Linden 116; passing found Linden with 172 yards., while the Spartans amassed 178 aerial yards.

Linden's offense., led by Dax Weber put six on the score

"Our defense played so well they were always putting the offense in good field position all game long," Weber said. "Defensive standouts were Jonathan Garcia, Ray Avansino, Marco Sanguinetti and Devin Maciel."

The JVs are 1-0 in Sierra Delta League play and 3-2 overall courtesy of a 3 game winning streak. The Lions have scored 139 points and opponents have put up 143.

board in the first quarter courtesy of a Weber pass to Sebastian Trujillo and the Spartans put up a six of their own and led 8-6 after a two-point conversion play was successful as the teams entered the second quarter.

The Spartans scored a touchdown, the point after failed and they were up 14-6 at halftime; the hosts added another six points in the third stanza for a 20-6 advantage and that held up for the final score.

paid $350 to cover all of the customers' meals. She also tipped the two servers a total of $100.

It was an act of kindness not only for the customers at Country Diner but also for the employees, especially during a difficult time.

"Business has been up and down. Even though we're opening, we still can't get the help, you know. We had to reduce hours," Renninger said.

The woman wanted to remain anonymous, but employees want her to know how many people she touched by her generosity.

"I'd like to say thank you so much. You made our day, and it's wonderful that you do that," Renninger said.

Oldest US veteran of WWII celebrates his 112th birthday.

Lawrence Brooks celebrated Sunday with a drive-by party at his New Orleans home hosted by the National World War II Museum, The Times-Picayune/The New Orleans Advocate reported. He also received greetings from Louisiana Gov. John Bel Edwards, who tweeted, "Mr. Brooks, the entire state of Louisiana thanks you for your service and we all wish you a joyous birthday."

Brooks waved at friends and family who came by to wish him a happy birthday. The museum has previously hosted parties for Brooks, although the coronavirus pandemic has caused those events to shift to drive-by celebrations for the past two years.

This year's festivities included a Jeep parade, a live performance from the museum vocal trio and entertainment from New Orleans musicians. The city also recognized Brooks' birthday with an official proclamation.

Friends and family danced in the street in celebration of Lawrence Brooks' 112th birthday.

Born in Norwood, Louisiana, in 1909, Brooks has lived in New Orleans since 1929. Drafted in 1940, he was a private in the Army's mostly Black 91st Engineer Battalion, a unit that was stationed in New Guinea and the Philippines and built infrastructure such as bridges, roads and airstrips.

Basketball players are in the midst of an attempt to play the longest game of the sport.

Teams from New York and Canada, which consist of high school and college students, began their attempt on 06/07/2021.

Nick Revelas has organized the event and explained how he and some friends began playing an annual basketball game to raise money for mental health causes after they lost a close friend to suicide.

Revelas shared how the game has grown with every passing year.

He told Spectrum News: "Six years ago, I started running a neighborhood basketball game in my driveway known as the Berryman Drive Fiesta Bowl.

"It was kind of a fun way for our neighbors to get together in the driveway.

"And then, over the years, it's kind of become this massive fundraiser, not just to raise money for mental health, but also awareness."

The time to beat is 120 hours, one minute and seven seconds and the players are expected to reach the benchmark at some point on Nov. 8, 2021.

Revelas confirmed that a Guinness adjudicator will be present to verify the record.
